

These four nurses have joined the hospital staff for a year's work. They are in the United States for two years under the Department of State's nurse exchange visitor program and have worked in Philadelphia hospitals for a year. Standing, left to right, are Narumon Phitakpraiwan of Thailand, Aurelia Quitevis of the Philippines, and Sodsri Boonyachoti, also of Thailand. Seated is Carolina del Rosario of the Philippines. Others are expected here for work under the same program.

Mrs. John Guerrant, left, and Mrs. William Sandusky, right, see these four Filipino nurses off for a visit to one of the Charlottesville precincts on election day. The nurses, who are on the hospital staff as part of an exchange program, are Susana Martinez, Rebecca Catapang, Felisa Bucoy and Tomasa Sunga. This trip was part of a new project of a hospital auxiliary committee, designed to give foreign nurses, wives of foreign house staff members, and others a view of the local scene and institutions. A coffee hour is planned Dec. 3 from 10 a.m. to noon to acquaint nonworking wives of house staff members with the various auxiliary projects and with the hospital as a whole. Mrs. Lester Wilson, president, and Mrs. Alice Bodine, director of volunteer services, will address the group. Mrs. Guerrant and Mrs. Martin Netsky are cochairmen of the new activity.

Miss Erlinda Pantaleon was one of 51 Filipino nurses on the University Hospital staff who provided their friends and associates here an elaborate "thank you" last month. The occasion was Filipiniana Night which featured folk dancing, singing, costumes, exhibits and foods served to the several hundred persons attending. Miss Roslyn Grino was chairman and mistress of ceremonies.
